THIS IS AN INFORMATION REPORT, NOT FINALLY EVALUATED INTELLIGENCE

SUBJECT: Sighting of 30-40 Caucasians, Possibly Prisoners, in Hanoi; Soviet-Aided Military Project

TEXT: 1. In mid-October 1982 between 30 and 40 Caucasian men were sighted in a basement of a two-storied building on a military compound in Hanoi. The men, who were viewed through a ventilation grate, wore green People's Army of Vietnam (PAVN) uniforms without insignia. They were of large build and some had mustaches. When sighted, the Caucasians were engaged in playing chess, billiards and indoor basketball. It is not known what language the Caucasians spoke, but it was not Russian or Polish.

2. The Caucasians were sighted by [redacted] for a drive around the city. After visiting a building near the Ho Chi Minh Mausoleum which was believed to house offices for important foreigners in Hanoi, [redacted] drove along Dien Bien Street for approximately four minutes. The car then turned into two other streets (direction unknown) and travelled for ten additional minutes. The compound was located on a tree-lined street and was surrounded by a wall 1.8 meters high topped with barbed wire. The gate to the compound was guarded by two soldiers in PAVN uniforms. The compound had one two-storied building. The two-storied building had an external staircase. The compound was patrolled by two guards.

3. While [redacted] entered the two-storied building [redacted] waited outside. While waiting they glanced through a ventilation grate at the corner of the building and saw the Caucasians in the basement. [redacted] attempted to get a better look at the Caucasians but were apprehended by two guards, who admonished them for wandering around the compound. [redacted] also were reprimanded by [redacted]

5. As of late 1982 at Yen Tu, north of Vang Danh, work was believed being conducted on a secret strategic project by the People's Army of Vietnam (PAVN) with Soviet assistance. At a PAVN center in Hoa Binh work is being performed on modifying the Soviet SA-2 to make it as effective as the SA-3. [Redacted] Comment: Yen Tu may be near Pha Lai, which is the location of a PAVN missile unit, but the military center at Hoa Binh is unconfirmed. Why PAVN would want to modify the SA-2, which has a longer range than the SA-3 was not explained.)
