Document Description:

This cable, which is currently and properly classified at the SECRET level, is withheld in its entirety pursuant to FOIA Exemptions (b)(1), b(2), (b)(3), (b)(6). No meaningful nonexempt information is reasonably segregable for release.

This two page cable contains one half page of distribution information and one and one half pages of text. The distribution information is withheld on the basis of exemptions b(1), b(2), b(3). The distribution information consists of internal administrative information in which there is no genuine public interest, including filing identifiers, routing codes, handling instructions, origination markings, and other internal administrative information which is protected from disclosure by exemption low b(2). In addition, some of these codes would disclose information such as internal organizational data, the location of CIA facilities overseas, and other information that is properly withheld under exemptions b(1) and b(3) as described more fully below.

The entire document, including the administrative information described above, is also withheld on the basis of exemption b(1). This document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of the Executive Order 12958, and which is protected from disclosure under b(1). Disclosure of this information would reasonably be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. In particular, the document tends to reveal certain intelligence methods and activities. The document also reveals CIA cryptonyms, the location of CIA stations, and foreign activities of the CIA. Disclosure of this information would reveal information that is currently and properly classified.

For similar reasons, this document is exempt from disclosure under exemption b(3) pursuant to Section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947. In addition, this document contains information about CIA official titles, internal organizational data, functions, and names that are properly withheld under exemption b(3), pursuant to Section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949.

Portions of this cable are also withheld under exemption b(6). This cable contains information that applies to a particular, identifiable individual. Disclosure of this information would constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Thus, those portions are withheld pursuant to exemption b(6).

This three page cable contains one half page of distribution information and two and one half pages of text. The distribution information is withheld on the basis of exemptions b(1), b(2), b(3). The distribution information consists of internal administrative information in which there is no genuine public interest, including filing identifiers, routing codes, handling instructions, origination markings, and other internal administrative information which is protected from disclosure by exemption b(2). In addition, some of these codes would disclose information such as internal organizational data, the location of CIA facilities overseas, and other information that is properly withheld under exemptions b(1) and b(3) as described more fully below.

The entire document, including the administrative information described above, is also withheld on the basis of exemption b(1). This document contains information that has been classified in accordance with Sections 1.4(c) and (d) of the Executive Order 12958, and which is protected from disclosure activities under b(1). Disclosure of this information would reasonably be expected to cause serious damage to the national security. In particular, the document tends to reveal certain intelligence methods and activities. The document also reveals CIA cryptonyms, the location of CIA stations, and foreign activities of the CIA. Disclosure of this information would reveal information that is currently and properly classified.

For similar reasons, this document is exempt from disclosure under exemption b(3) pursuant to Section 102A(i)(1) of the National Security Act of 1947. In addition, this document contains information about CIA official titles, internal organizational data, functions, and names that are properly withheld under exemption b(3), pursuant to Section 6 of the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949
