PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR LEAVE TO FILE ONE-DAY LATE

    Come now the plaintiffs, Roger Hall and Studies Solutions Results, Inc., and move this Court for leave to file their cross-motion for partial summary judgment one-day late. As grounds for the motions, plaintiffs state to the court as follows;

    1. Plaintiffs were due to file their motion for partial summary judgment on December 17, 2008.

    2. Working very hard all day long, plaintiffs' counsel felt sure he would be able to file his brief on December 17th.   About 11:00 p.m. he completed the brief. Because he had typed it in 12 point type to assist his vision, it ran too long, so he he reduced it to 11 point type. This made the brief fit within the 45-page page limit, but it created another problem. In reducing the type size, counsel discovered that there were man places where words became improperly hyphenated due to the change in print size. By the time this problem got corrected, the midnight deadline had based.

3   At about 4:00 a.m., counsel left a message for counsel for defendant seeking to ascertain her position on this motion. So far, the call has not been returned.

Respectfully submitted,
